Dedication

To those who gave me a lot and did not expect thanks, to the guide of my path in the stages of my life, I ask God to protect him and grant him health and wellness:

My dear father.

To those who stayed up nights for me, to the dove of my soul, I ask God to protect her and improve her work:

My dear mother.

To those who suffered and were patient for me: My beloved wife.

To the precious gift of Allah the Almighty .. To the arteries of my heart: My children.

To those who shared my joys and pains: My brothers and sisters.

To those who await my joy and are my pride everywhere...

To all of them I dedicate the fruits of my effort.

Civilization Building in Holy Quran: A Study of the Pillars of the Civilization Building

Abstract

The researcher has divided the research into four parts, the introduction and three chapters, the first chapter serves as preliminary chapter in which the concept of civilization and the characteristics and domain of Islamic Civilization, the researcher has also elicited the linguistic meaning of civilization and its terms that are used in Holy Quran and in the Islamic and Western visualization. The characteristics of Islamic Civilization, its different domains and its social and economic relations have been mentioned as well. The second Chapter talks about the pillars of civilization construction. The researcher has also divided it into eleven parts, first is the field of study of the civilized functions of human represented in worshipping Allah, doing the duty of succession, and the good of constructing the Earth. Second is the study of instilling faith in building civilization edifice; and maintaining it by Moralism, which is the third field of study. The fourth field cares for developing and managing civilization edifice through building and maintaining the economy and by beating the hands of those messing with the goods and resources of the nation. The fifth study field, the Developing of Scientific Area, deals with how to promote the position of the youth of the nation. Moreover, all the above cannot be fulfilled away from the sixth study filed, which is, believing in the notion and being faithful and trustful to that notion. The seventh field cares for the necessity of justice between the individual and the nation and applying it to all without discrimination.
